

The Sky's the Limit with New Package from Four Seasons Resorts in Scottsdale and Santa Fe

Explore the American Southwest with Four Seasons and RYL Jets

February 16, 2015, Scottsdale, U.S.A.

Discover the beauty and romance of Arizona and New Mexico with the Explore the American Southwest package, offered by Four Seasons Resort Scottsdale at Troon North and Four Seasons Resort Rancho Encantado Santa Fe in conjunction with RYL Jets, a global private jet brokerage firm.

Guests will begin their journey at either hotel, and then be whisked away by a private charter flight to the other destination. Alleviate the long lines, luggage restrictions and limits on liquids with a seamless transfer aboard a luxury aircraft, arriving fresh and ready for the experience that awaits at each property.

"Santa Fe and Scottsdale are two complementary destinations, and only about a one-hour flight apart," says Regional Vice President and Four Seasons Resort Scottsdale General Manager Vince Parrotta. "RYL Jets makes it easy to experience both cities over a long weekend, providing a private chartered flight in between for the ultimate ease of travel and comfort."

The Explore the American Southwest package includes a two-night stay at both Four Seasons properties in Scottsdale and Santa Fe – inclusive of a welcome amenity and complimentary upgrade at each property upon arrival – and a private chartered flight between the two properties, with transfers from Scottsdale and Santa Fe Airport. For the one-way charter flight, guests may choose between aircraft options ranging from twin engine turboprops such as the Piaggio Avanti, very light jets including the Phenom 100, and light jets such as the Hawker 400 and Citation CJ2.

Guests may further customize the package with specialized programming in each destination. In Santa Fe, guests can satisfy their inner foodie with an interactive night at the Chef's Table with Executive Chef Andrew Cooper. Or, head out for an adventure trek with Adventure Partners, the property's onsite adventure experts offering a range of customized programming. In Scottsdale, go behind the scenes with Executive Chef Mel Mecinas in the Chef for a Day program. Or, become a Cowboy for a Day with partner Arizona Cowboy College and learns the ins and outs of wrangling, roping and riding the range.
